Spend a day exploring this historic section of Lake Champlain by boat. Depending on the wind we could sail over to Port Henry area [the alleged 'home of 'Champ', the Lake Champlain sea monster] and then perhaps Potash Bay for lunch.

Alternatively we could sail down the lake toward Fort Ticonderoga and Mount Independence. For those that are coming from a distance there is camping nearby in the DAR State Park [or Button Bay State Park a little further away]. Folks can then stay overnight and sail also on Sunday [on their own] or visit the maritime museum in North Ferrisburgh.

Excellent launch ramp and place for trailers. Bring lunch and appropriate clothing.
